POSITION DESCRIPTION

ONE VACANCY LOCATED AT HEADQUARTERS IN SACRAMENTO

Under the general direction of the Assistant Director, Division of Land Resource Protection (DLRP), the Deputy Chief plans, organizes, and directs the staff responsible for the operation of DLRP, which includes, 36 permanent employees who are responsible for the administration of the Division's varied programs as mandated by State statutes. These programs include: The California Land Conservation (Williamson) Act/Open Space Subvention Act; the California Farmland Conservancy Program (CFCP); the Farmland Mapping and Monitoring Program (FMMP); the Watershed Program; and the Resource Conservation District (RCD) Program. The Deputy Chief serves as a member of the Director's Executive Team and makes policy recommendations to the Directorate and the Resources Agency on sensitive program issues. The Deputy Chief is instrumental in the development of program issues, in the development and implementation of the policies of the Resources Agency and the Director as they relate to the conservation of agricultural resources, and in the interpretation of policies established by the Legislature, the courts, and legal opinions pursuant to the Williamson Act/Open Space Subvention Act. This would include: The impact of current legislation and judicial proceedings on local planning practices, the functioning of the Williamson Act, and related matters; the role of the Williamson Act in providing for long-term conservation of agricultural resources; coordination of an efficient Williamson Act enforcement program; significant issues relating to the Open Space Subvention Act, including operational concerns at the local level; issues relating to grants of State funds to local organizations for permanent agricultural easements and for obtaining additional grant funding; expanding the successful and cost-effective watershed coordinator program into a statewide program and establish a statewide Watershed Advisory Committee; increasing the ability of DLRP to influence local planning decisions by establishing a statewide Citizen's Farmland/Open Space Advisory Committee charged with identifying policy and programs that will create incentives for local communities to protect their most important land from development; through the efforts of a statewide task force, creating statewide criteria that can be adapted by local communities to identify "Heritage" land that should be preserved for future generations while accommodating population growth; and works with the 103 RCDs to expand their ability to implement conservation programs at the local level while working closely with private and public landowners. Reviews key policy and programmatic decisions that affect these programs and the Department. The position exists in Sacramento.
